THE COMING SEA-BATTLES.

The Chinese are not very good fighters. We do not calculate upon seeing them put an army of heroes into the field. The Japanese are better, but not up to the American standard. But when mer who have learned to handle guns are shut up in a battle-ship, with another armor-ciad monster blazing away at them, they have got to fight, anyhow.

The Chinese Emperor announces that he is about to "root out the pestilent Japanese in their lairs," and it is said the whole Chinese fleet, a pretty strong one, is gathering to carry out the ar rangement. At the same time the Jap anese, after sinking one of the Chines vessels and beating their second best battle-ship, are cleaning their guns and getting ready for a good naval battle.

Our people do not feel any great interest in the quarrel between China and Japan, but they will watch anxiously for these promised sea-fights, and will expect to find the descriptions of them well worth reading and studying. Hence "The Evening World," which nessey; who jumped in after him and finally rescued him after a hard strugcourse, give as, usual, the best and earliest accounts of the engagements will be watched for more eagerly than may be depended on to have the earliest and most reliable news of the doings of the Celestial Farraguts and of the jolly Japanese tars.

But there is still a deeper shadow than that of the Gray Committee falling about the Sugar Trust and the United States Senate.

Prevention is better than a cure every ime and all the time. One of the great needs of the your hildren in humble life is to be delivered from their friends. The following ex ract from an "Evening World" staff doctor's report is pertinent;

doctor's report is pertinent:

Of all the diseases that plague infancy, the most dreadful is diarrheea. The trouble is provoked, not contracted, being neither centagious nor infectious. It is the cutcome of lamentable ignorance. Parents are not held responsible for the infant mortality of the city, but nevertheless, the fault is theirs. It would be amusing, if the consequences did not often prove so awfully disastrous, to enumerate the things that a casual observer sees in a tour of health inspection. For example bahes in arms eating bananas, sucking a piece of orange or swallowing bread that their systems could not possibly digest. I have seen babies this week eating pineapple, turnips, pears, herring corned meat and carrots.

This outrageously improper feeding has more to do with the sickness and death of infants than the meather. The extreme heat, of course, so depreases and weakens them that they cannot always withinfand the bowel diseases.

Next to the causes of the terrible infant mortality heretofore mentioned. I would name the "old woman next door," Every family has "an old woman next door," who is ever ready to give advice and assume the grave creponsthilly of dosing baby, no matter how lift it may be.

She is usually a woman who has had many children and buried many. Only the other day! met one of these persons who "knew it all" because she had had fourteen children. She when asked how many were now living, she meekly replied two. She is an advised how many were now living, she meekly replied two. She is an advised how many were now living, she meekly replied two. She is an advised how many ever now living, she meekly replied two. She is an advised how many ever now living, she meekly replied two. She is an advised how many ever now living, she meekly replied two. She is not advised and strong could not the sheet of infants.

well, but she is usually excessively ignorant and extremely danserous—and this is why she is such a slayer of infants.

It is the happy privilege and important duty of the company of free physicians to combat this and all other enemies of the helpless babies. It is no easy task, but that many lives are saved by timely advice and treatment there is not even the shadow of a dutot.

By teaching hygiene, the foods suitable for infantile digestion and the things unsuitable, and by providing ways and means of occasionally removing the children from the foul atmosphere in which they live; by prescribing, and, if hecesary, purchasing the proper medicines in cases of the slightest as well as of the gravest allments, are a few of the ways the physicians serve to point out the merits and defects of the modern style of battle-ships, and may really be of service to other countries, the rulers of which are always preparing for war in times of peace.

with the foods they prepare. Every-body wants the soup to be savory, but pickling it is not always satisfactory. Many people object to pepper. Not a grain should be put in the pot or in general dish, and not a drop of vinegar gravy or oil should be put on meats or vegetables. There is no objection to little salt, and the smaller the quantity the better, for a deficiency is readily corrected, while too much may spoil the roth. In perfuming the soup the tasteof the family should be consulted. Lemon, parsley and bay are all right, but carrots, onlons and mace have vigorous and healthy opponents.
